

Court Martial Appeal Court
of Canada

Cour d'appel de la cour martiale
du Canada

Public and media remote access to hearings during the COVID-19 pandemic

Due to reduced seating capacity in courtrooms, members of the public and media are strongly encouraged to access hearings remotely.

Remote access is available for all hearings unless the Court orders otherwise. Members of the public and media wishing to access a remote hearing should write to cmac-information-cacm@cas-satj.gc.ca and provide the case name and number and the hearing date. Instructions on how to join the remote hearing will be sent by email.

The Court's Hearing list is regularly updated on the Court's website. The Hearing list indicates the language in which the case will be argued, the start time and the approximate length of the hearing.

It should be noted that the Court's Guidelines on Public and Media apply to remote hearings. Unless the approval of the Court has been sought and granted, taking photos or screen captures during the course of the hearing is prohibited as is the broadcast or distribution of recordings of the hearing, in whole or in part.

Members of the media can direct their questions to the Court's media contact person.